

Objective: To become your companys sole Survivor.

Corporate Challenge would like to take your company on the wild ride that is Survivor. We have lovingly removed the deserted islands, cannot promise any weight loss, will provide aeroguard for the bugs and all going well won't see any blood or tears. But what we can promise is a teambuilding program with more twists and turns than you could ever imagine.

PROGRAM

Survivors Ready.....

After 17 seasons we have seen deserted islands, dramatic weight loss, unimaginable insect bites, heart wrenching challenges, and more blood, sweat and tears than we care to remember. To some this may seem like madness but to the true fanatics this is what the reality TV show Survivor is all about!!

Once your group has been welcomed to the sounds of the Survivor theme, divided into tribes, have their buffs and have selected a suitable name they set about achieving the ultimate objective - to be the last surviving tribe on the island.

Throughout the day, tribes - in real survivor style - will be tested in a number of recreational or problem solving situations. Dependent on success at each activity, tribes will be rewarded with immunity idols. These will be awaiting them, at the conclusion of the immunity challenges, at Tribal Council.

With the object of the day being to earn as many immunity idols as you can, teams will compete wildly for these to collect at Tribal Council. Tribal Council is then a mix of strategy and skill, as teams must use their idols to progress in the game or rely on their trivia knowledge to move through the various eliminations. One by one teams will be eliminated, until we are left with our sole survivor team.

This event will provide your company with the opportunity to discover the hidden talents and skills of your people. It may also show how strong the alliances run when we come down to the dreaded tribal council. We will incorporate immunity challenges that are designed to meet your particular requirements and may range from the physical through to the mentally challenging.

"The tribe has spoken!!"
